

Never Say Forever, If The Choice Was Mine

The sky is painting us a sunset while the shadow of our summer is passing us by and in its parting rays, i feel my arms losing their grip around you, your slipping away sporting a smile that is false and full of sadness shes wearing a look that says "im trying my hardest not to cry"

and if the choice was mine, i would place you in the heavens right next to our star
and if the choice was mine,
i would let your beauty compliment the sky noone walks these streets as much as we do makes me feel the way taht we do everyones jealous but noone speaks and noones looked at me through eyes like yours or talked to me with a sweeter voice than yours please dont forget me while your away

i would place you in the heavens right next to our star
i would let your beauty compliment the sky

the sky, grows dark, you leave today the sky, grows dark, you've left today

i would place you in hte heavens right next to our star
and if the choice was mine
I would let your beauty compliment the sky

And if i had to die to find the perfect way (and the choice was mine) to show you how i feel, then girl i would (i would place you in the heavens right next to our star)
And if i had the time, and if the choice was mine (and if the chioce was mine)
I would let your beauty compliment the sky
(i would let your beauty compliment the sky)
compliment the sky
