

Neverstore, Another Sentimental Argument

Some times it feels, like it's not real
Like it's a movie on TV
Broken homes, atomic bombs, fiction or reality?

What can I do?
What can I change?
I guess it aint much, but I try anyway
We have to unite we ahve to believe that everyone's right is to fill their own needs

Why the hell is this world not heading forward
Open your eyes and realise that we are tearing it apart
Time to act now cause we only got this planet
Do or die but don't deny the fact that we are the once to blame

What can we do what can we change pretty damn much if we do,
Not just say when push comes to shove we can't run, we can't leave

Why the hell is this world not heading forward
Open your eyes and realise that we are tearing it apart
Time to act now cause we only got this planet
Do or die but don't deny the fact that we are the once to blame