

Nevertheless, Losing Innocence

I'm done. I'm done with this!

Oh Son, expose my weakness with the daylight you bring that's bright enough to kill this grey.

We're dancing on the fence.

We're losing innocence
but we can't expect to live like this forever.

What do I say? How do I explain this grey that weighs heavy on the brains of those who I love and those who keep the faith?
When I know there's just one way.

We're dancing on the fence.

We're losing innocence,
but we can't expect to live like this forever!
We weren't made to live like this, no never!

We try to come as close as we can to what we can't and not get caught, but, instead, let's turn and run towards the light!

We're dancing on the fence.

We're losing innocence,
but we can't expect to live like this forever.
We weren't made to live like this, no never!