

New Found Glory, When I Die

Now I have finally accepted we will never stand in the same room I can never hear your voice of reason at least you didn't, didn't feel a thing

When I was younger you would tell me that I should wait to grow up that things don't go always as planned
at least you didn't, didn't feel a thing

no you didn't, didn't have to feel a thing no you didn't feel when I die I'll be fine cause I know you're always there when I die I'm alright cause I know you'll be there you are home

Now I'm standing at a crossroad don't know which path is calling me I wanna follow in your footsteps so you know you're never alone

no you didn't, didn't have to feel a thing no you're never alone

I'm still here but I'm waiting for our long conversations I'm still here but I'm waiting to go home

no you didn't, didn't have to feel a thing
you are home