

Nicholis Louw, Angel In Your Eyes

Baby dont try to hide it dont look away and cry
Cause it looks like I love you but it feels just like goodbye
I know that somethings wrong but I cant pretend to know why
I gotta be honest baby it scares me sometimes

Theres an angel in your eyes
Mustve come down from the sky
And I hate to see you cry
No more chances no more lies
Theres an angel in your eyes

Baby the more you fight it the more I see it in your eyes
That you smile like a mother but you cry just like a child
But underneath the sadness I see a sparkle in your eyes
And when I see the angel smiling it looks like a child

Baby trust the feeling of your heartbeat
Baby trust the love we feel inside
I will spend my life with you
I dont have to think it through

My angel from the sky
How I hate to see you cry
No more chances no more lies
I see it in your eyes
Theres an angel in your eyes