

Nicole Gallimore, Addicted To Pain

You have a hold on me and I don't know why
Because you don't make me smile you make me cry
You hold me close and tell me lies
Whisper them like poison in my ear
I choose to believe them
But I can feel it running through my veins
Killing me from the inside

Its enough to drive me insane, All this pain
But iv moved on now
Found someone new
Someone to replace you
Someone to hold me tight
Keep me warm through the night

So why am I thinking of you
Back to what we used to do
Back to our days in the sun
Relaxing by the pool
I was so shy
You could have had any girl
Why did you choose to break my heart?

Its enough to drive me insane, All this pain
But iv moved on now
Found someone new
Someone to replace you
Someone to hold me tight
Keep me warm through the night

I think I still love you
You tell me on one cold night you love me too
I don't know what to do
Should I let you in again
Or will you just cause me pain

I hate the sound of your name
To me it just means pain
I hate the sound or your name
To me it just means pain
I hate the sound of your name
To me it just means pain

Come an hurt me again