

Nightfall, One Of These Days

One Of These Days

Pain, so much pain I can smell it everywhere

Love, where's that love by my mother had been told

Run

One of these days father will come to take you

Run

Run as fast as you can to avoid these days rush

Try to come back when this world again will be a piece of art

I know we are trapped to endless nothing

But just to remind you we have to hold onto something

Anything you feel satisfies the true meaning of our lives

As time passes by there's no room for the true meaning in your life

That sweet thing once you disliked
