

Nightmare Of You, Herbal Jazz Cigarette

I could find the reasoning to not get mad at the morning rain,
So long as you're waking up to it with me.
I know what you're gonna say, before you even know how to say it.
No, I still don't have rain shoes.

And If I don't see you soon,
I just might lose whatever is left of my mind
I know, I know, I know.
That I'm so crazy
I know, I know, I know.
Because you told me so.
And there's nothing in this world that's quite prescribable
That makes me feel the way I feel, when I look into your eyes.

Everyone's going out, but you will keep me in tonight
Even though you are into in me.
You make me want to find God, You give me meaning for the means of my universe
The end would have no end.

And If I don't see you soon,
I just might lose whatever is left of my mind
I know, I know, I know.
That I'm so crazy
I know, I know, I know.
Because you told me so.
And there's nothing in this world that's quite prescribable
That makes me feel the way I feel, when I look into your eyes.

I know, I know, I know.
That I'm so crazy
I know, I know, I know.
Because you told me so.
And there's nothing in this world that's quite prescribable
That makes me feel the way I feel, when I look into your eyes.
