

Nightmare Of You, I Was Never A Normal Boy

You, you found yourself a sweetie
You won't leave their side tonight
And if tomorrow actually happens
Then, you just might reconsider
On how to go awry

I am not sure where I belong to
I was never a normal boy
I don't go out unless it's demanded of me
I already know what is outside
But what I don't know is what's inside of me

And oh, how the bombs look so pretty
In the Fourth of July sky
But now, it just looks so revolting
When knowing, our president was a liar
Oh, there he goes again

I am not sure where I belong to
I was never a normal boy
I don't go out unless it's demanded of me
I already know what is outside
But what I don't know is what's inside of me

Oh, living is so easy
Oh, living is so easy
With blindfolds on our eyes
With blindfolds on our eyes

I am not sure where I belong to
I was never a normal boy
I don't go out unless it's demanded of me
I already know what is outside
But what I don't know is what's inside of me
