

Nina Kinert, Heartbreaktown

Heartbreaktown is pretty Now that all the leaves are gone and it's getting colder every day
My heartbreaktown is more lively now that you're not here Heartbreaktown reminds me all the time that I am still very deeply in love with you I try to reach out alone but I'm still standing here
I try to reach out but I am
on my own
I try to reach out alone but
I'm still standing here
My heartbreak home is empty

Now that all your things are gone and it's a little bittersweet in a way Cause I'm leaving my heartbreak home and everything that reminds me of you And I'll be looking back and see that I was never really that in love with you
I try to reach out alone but
I'm still standing here
I try to reach out but I am
on my own
I try to reach out alone but
I'm still standing here
