

Nina Simone, Seems I'm Never Tired Of Lovin' You

Darling, you always needed And your tenderness is needed too And it seems that I'm never tired loving you, loving you never was a feeling stronger aching for the sweet things you do and it seems that I'm never tired loving you should the mountains crumble to ashes and the rain should cease to fall and if the river stopped its flowing you'd still be my all in all and if the clouds cover the sky so the sunlight won't come through then I will never, never, never, never, never, never, tire loving you
