

No Assembly Required, Russia

every time you strive we'll be waiting near we'll be waiting to beat you alive every time you breathe we'll be knowing this we'll be knowing when you are asleep russia has come, it's been happening it's over now, you're not ready yet

russia has come, it's been happening
it's over now

every single year, will be filled with plagues seven years of them making you fear every single war you hear building up it's just building up to take you bare all these people locked away in their own homes looking everywhere to find they're all alone now while the russians roam through everything you own and there's no stopping this, they're always in control open up your eyes, they are coming now, they are waiting to take all your lives try to realize, they don't give a fuck they just want you up just to ignite

all these people locked away in their own homes
looking everywhere to find they're all alone now
while the russians roam through everything you own and there's no stopping this, we're always in control