

No Avail, Harder Than It Has To Be

Don't make me leave
I don't wanna play this out
So where is your patience now
Are you gonna make this harder than it has to be?

I thought you knew
That we were set to last
Just think of the time that passed
Setting a date to make mistakes when I'm with you.

It's just a game and you lost so you'll fight it
I know it hurts when there's no one to confide in
But soon you'll learn that theres' really only one way
To see the truth, you just never trust a word I say

Everything I do, I do wrong
It's in my blood that, that's in my head
Every word you've heard in this song
Was never made to be this great a melody
So here is an apology for my leading you on.

When will you see?
I'm trying to set you free
I need you to comfort me
You're just gonna make this harder than it has to be

We're through
I shouldn't have come to you
Making a point
