

No Bragging Rights, Settle For Stainless Steel

Can you feel it every time my lips kiss 10 five 83?

(Its all thats left, its all you are)

I have to settle for stainless steel

(stay respectful, stay away)

My fingers go over inscriptions that bear the name of someone

Ive been dying to hold,

The fear of stepping on toes When you find something worth fighting for,

You dont just walk away, you dont just let that go

When you find something you cant deny,

Especially something youve looked for your whole life,

We could look the other way and ignore whats in our face, Pass it off and move on

But Ive been hurt enough to know,

Its not the fall that proves to be fatal,

Its when the hearts ignored

I wont stop till a broke finger is answered for

We found our fight

When you find something worth dying for,

You'll feel it in your heart and you'll just know

never let it go

We could look the other way And ignore whats in your face, Pass it off, move on

But Ive been hurt enough to know,

Its not the fall that proves to be fatal,

Its when the hearts ignored

I wont stop till a broke finger is answered for

Dont get hung up on threatening skies,

Dont get hung up on sad goodbyes,

Have faith that the sun will rise,

I found my fight in green eyes

my fight in green eyes