No-Man, Angel Gets Caught In The Beauty Trap

I step out of the shadows and into the bright day, I cannot breathe for the smoke and the city smells.

my head comes alive with the humming of engines, I cannot scream for the dust in my throat.

I stare at the lovers as they stand in the doorway, I cannot dream for the dirt on my hands.

I came to this place with a lifetime of memories; falling apart like the shoes on my feet.

even now I see you fall even now I see you fall even now I see you fall your arms stretching out.

I remember the hot sand. I remember the blue sky. we sat side by side and traded our names.

I remember the sweet air.
I remember the time when I fell in love
only to cry in my sleep.

even now I see you fall even now I see you fall even now I see you fall your arms stretching out.

even now I sometimes call even now I sometimes call even now I sometimes call your name in the night

in my dream
I feel you breathing
in my dream
I feel you breathe
in my dream
I feel you breathing
in my dream
I feel you breathe