

No Use For A Name, Saddest Song

What's wrong with everyone? There's a panic in their eyes
Like others getting close are aliens in disguise
They smell conspiracy on the lips of dearest friends
Reminds me of a time long ago, they think it's the end

Of what we all created, used to love but now we hate it Life is as simple as the mind it lives in the truth is a waste of time
When we're conditioned to understand
Lies are the right way as we watch the blind leading the blind

Everything that we see is another's suffering Learn to enjoy the message your tv is delivering You're safe behind the glass like being at the zoo
The face of guilty thoughts turns around and looks just like you

Don't want to be another victim, but you watch them suffer
Organized, de-sensitized and trained
To wake up at six A.M, go to work come back and in bed by ten
Where the feeling is safe and warm
Horried by any change, living by consensus destroy us
Paints pretty pictures at the same time will do us more harm
