

Noah Cyrus, LP, Punches

honey
feels like my worlds burnt down I'm trying to put it out I'm trying but don't know

I'm drowning in all my doubt
I'm trying to start again
I try but I'm struggling

after all this time
got nothing to lose
see nothing but you
you might say I'm wasted on you
but when you break I break for you too love can beat us black and blue but, darling, I'll take the punches for you

punches for you

darling
got good intentions
keep running in circles I'm fading out like a ghost

keep making the same mistakes

darling
darling
darling
darling
like a map faded in time like an old forgotten tune I know love has been unkind for the two of us and you might say that I've been cruel but when you break I'm breaking too

punches and punches
