

Nomy, Hold Your Head Up High

You said you're just one in the crowd But, your laughter is way too loud You feel the darkness rule the light Your life is complicated too But, you know just what to do the light you give is not in you Hold your head up high
and this pain will die somehow, somewhere, just try your living in the dark where no one can see your tears but, hold your head up high Can you tell me that I'm wrong don't keep your broken heart too long deep inside your growing strong Look behind your life today Find More lyrics at www.sweetlyrics.com can you see yourself this way when the winter cold is gone Hold your head up high
and this pain will die
somehow, somewhere, just try
your living in the dark
where no one can see your tears
but, hold your head up high
Hold your head up high
and this pain will die
somehow, somewhere, just try
your living in the dark
where no one can see your tears
but, hold your head up high*