

Non-Prophets, Mainstream 307

(Chorus)

Then one day it all dawned on me yo
I wasnt down with the mainstream or should I say their team
(Easier said than done)
I wasnt down with the mainstream or should I say their team
(Gotta find a way)
I wasnt down with the mainstream or should I say their team
(Easier said than done)
I wasnt down with the mainstream or should I say their team
(Gotta find a way)

Waste away

Sad to see you go the way that you do
Today youre through with yesterdays truths
You know better for the forward actions
As for your past friends, all lost in the holocaust
Of thoughts in a backwards caption
Unlucrative talents that used to give balance when you had to live with two abusive parents
Waste away create expenses for yourself
I know youre sensitive for the negative effects ever felt.
Day to day, pushed in between your weekly pay checks
Remember when you were free?
I seen you at your apex
Dont tell me youre in a better place just cause the rent is higher
Spent fuel on retirement now you dont know where the fire went
Waste, the future is charcoal
Everything you make is reduced to a barcode
Everyone mistakes, payin' dues is a lost road
Going place to place faking moves when your car's towed
Going gold with a fool's heart?
Id rather be a fool with a heart of gold
Lose my breaks and save my truth till tomorrow
Remember when Id hate if my beautiful scar showed?

(Chorus)

(Then one day it all dawned on me, yo)
I wasnt down with the mainstream or should I say their team
(Gotta find a way)
I wasnt down with the mainstream or should I say their team
(Easier said than done)
I wasnt down with the mainstream or should I say their team
(Gotta find a way)
I wasnt down with the mainstream or should I say their team
(Easier said than done)

The lowest common denominators let the arts suffer
The only heart you follow is road kill on your car bumper
You're Archie Bunker caught in slumber.
I hope you burn to death with the trends that are hot this summer
You need to hold the breath youre talking under
Until youre close to death and no one's left in the pop culture you cocksucker
Freedom to choose between margarine and butter
The choice should be between fingernail clippers and lock cutters
A little something for the sweet tooth of chocolate lovers
Besides candy rappers reproducing 2Pac covers
Biggie Small wonders... makin milk from robotic gutters
The whole motherfucking pop culture is smothered
Back in the day, NWA made cops shudder
And 808s replaced rock drummers
Turn them into job hunters
Foundation crop dusters
You were chillin now you sound faker than Raekwons stutter
Your whole essence is a stocking stuffer

On Christmas Day Ill open your presents with a box cutter
Give away secrets to the keys of life
While I strike these chords Im ignored while I counter-points Bill ORielly tries to score
Wipe the floor with your psyche some more
And fight the war with Michael Moore in a Nike store
Battling the general consensus of shit
As petty as it is Das EFX rocked that band aid ten years before Nelly did

(Chorus)

I wasnt down with the mainstream or should I say their team
(Easier said than done)
I wasnt down with the mainstream or should I say their team
(Gotta find a way)
I wasnt down with the mainstream or should I say their team
(Easier said than done)
I wasnt down with the mainstream or should I say their team
(Gotta find a way)

I dont wanna be famous like the artists on your playlist
The more emotion I put into it the harder they diss
Actors with scripts thinking they ought to repent
Id rather be rich than have a whole lot of resent
Its the pitiful public I get from rush
While Im busting dope lines I'm misquoted
And you might think I wrote it
For all you know its all for the dough
I fought off a forty O,
And bought the clothes that were affordable
A scorpio with the stinger sticking into singers and tawdry holes
Your chorus flows with an awful show of raw audio
They call me slow to adapt, I said FUCK THAT!

(Chorus)

(Then one day it all dawned on me, yo)
I wasnt down with the mainstream or should I say their team
(Gotta find a way)
I wasnt down with the mainstream or should I say their team
(Easier said than done)
I wasnt down with the mainstream or should I say their team
(Gotta find a way)
I wasnt down with the mainstream or should I say their team
(Easier said than done)