NonExist, Eaten Alive

drowning in this ocean of monumental waves far away from the cyberian memorycard-saves abducted by the currents of my awakening twisted faces smiling, evoke a quake within emerging from a world below, degenerating rapidly claws of reality's got me now, stuck here eternally an easy target, an easy prey i am exceeding my domains

if i'll find a way, that leads me out of here ... i cannot stay, have to overcome my fear wasn't quite prepared for the hostility outside well-done, medium, rare - i would have been eaten alive can't stand this pressure please, get me out of here

an easy target, an easy prey
i am exceeding my domains

i leave this place so dark and sinister it's too late - the sun has set forever as the world keeps turning - then fade away into eternity