NonExist, Ebony Tower

rapture in euphoria, sweet revenge so horrifying even though all is black, won't forgive - can't forget shadows of those who died, their energy bring me to life even though all is black, won't forgive - can't forget reaching out for a soul, lost the will to control victim of circumstance, forever trapped in a trance disillusioned by the world, a never ending spell a curse to remain ... where i reign, i have power i must say, i admire the view from my ebony tower, watching you thirty years, three decades - eleventhousand night and days still alive, still insane, sun shines in the acid rain take a look - people die, and you never wonder why? the beginning of the end, solitude's my only friend imprisoned in my world of confusion shattered dreams feed my illusions powerful forces of nature tearing down what i've created reaching, losing, disillusioned...