

Norah Jones, Running

From the first time I felt the click in my heart
I keep running, oh I keep running away
Try to sleep but the aching tears me apart
I keep running, oh I keep running away
Oh am I wasting the day?
I keep running, oh I keep running away
Oh does it hurt me to stay?
I keep running, oh cus I don't wanna pay
Stars shine but start to fade in the light
Love is blind, could be wrong or it could be right
In a bind telling myself it's for you
For you...
Running and running
Running and running
Running and running hey hey hey hey
For you...
Running and running
Running and running
Running and running hey hey
In the night the devil knocks on my door
I keep running, oh I keep running away
Another life and the same thing happened before
Oh and he begs me to stay
I keep running, oh I keep running away
Oh will he take me away?
I keep running, oh cus I don't wanna pay
Stars shine but start to fade in the light
Love is blind, could be wrong or it could be right
In a bind telling myself it's for you
For you...
running and running
Running and running
Running and running hey hey hey hey
For you...
running and running
Running and running
Running and running hey hey
