

Nordafrost, On The Shores Of Grey

Ough wandering through imposing sceneries
Through valleys and over chill-covered hills
I fight my way through penetrating dampness
Wading in swamps of water blood and soil

The oppressing atmosphere exerts negative power on my mind
I feel physically paralysed
But from the deepest corners of my harmed consciousness
My limbs get the order to take me far away

Stumblind sleepdrunk i search my way
On and on my sources running out

Chorus
On the shores of grey i find serenity
I am delivered from human agony
Penetrated by frostrain i deeply repise
The shore of grey

I'm a rotten creature crwaling on the ground
Only my last reserves keep my body alive
Then the landscape opens and the view is set free
I see rocks water towers of clouds and a dimmed horizon

Having arrived strong winds hit my face
The fresh air invades my lungs and i taste salt
Water's broken fies high into the sky sae and rain become one
Now breathing eternity i feel enormous power

Stumblind sleepdrunk i search my way
On and on my sources running out

Chorus
On the shores of grey i find serenity
I am delivered from human agony
Penetrated by frostrain i deeply repise
The shore of grey : my final desire
