

Norma Jean, You Changed Everything About Me

You changed everything about me but my name
My self respectin' pride had turned to shame
And after all you changed you changed your mind
You changed everything about me but my name

It started out so easy just a simple change or two
I'd do anything you wanted if it was pleasin' you
As you did know what you wanted cause after you got through Changin' me to someone else you changed to someone new
You changed everything about me...
(steel)
You changed everything about me...
You changed everything about me but my name
