

Northstar, For Members Only

Just forget all about fate,
While I unlock this gentleman's promise
With flesh like fire, but it lacks the color,
And chemical laughs fly round like drama.
I know I move like an apparition,
In a style that's all ghost written.
But these are the things I can take apart
These are the things I can take.

You move me like I've got new feet.
Just don't leave me like this,
Cause I'd wonder.

My stereo is blown away,
So for now your voice can stay.
Once they all circle me,
I will rip apart this machine.
(My stereo is blown away)

I am a prince with paper parts,
Made of spit and paper dolls.
This killer's karma has been bared
Uneven seems, a broken belt.
She's got this problem with people flying,
One way tickets and a fear of crying.
But these are the things she can take apart.
These are the things I will take.

You move me like I've got new feet.
Just don't leave me like this,
Cause I'd wonder
Just don't leave me like this.

My stereo is blown away,
So for now your voice can stay.
But once they all circle me,
I will rip apart this machine.
(x2)

My stereo is blown away,
So for now your voice can stay.
Once they all circle me,
I will rip apart

My stereo is blown away. (x2)

I cut her up and sent all the parts,
and then hung them on all the corners and bars