

Nouveaux, If Only...

If only the stars in the heavens could tell the story
If only the mightiest ocean could speak
If only the mountains could cry out, we would hear them
And all would believe, every knee would bow
All would be free, heaven would be here now

If only the wind could whisper words
And carry the tune to all the earth
And speak the name of Jesus Christ
The great I AM, the Truth, the Life

The song of creation echoes through the land
And voices are joining in harmony
Beyond the golden horizon, truth is waiting
And all will believe, every knee will bow
All could be free, if only they'd see, if only they'd see

If only the wind could whisper words
And carry the tune to all the earth
And speak the name of Jesus Christ
The great I AM, the Truth, the Life

If only the wind could whisper words
And carry the tune to all the earth
And speak the name of Jesus Christ
The great I AM, the Truth, the Life
