

Nouveaux, Maybe Tomorrow

The heavens paint a silent symphony
As Orion shines for me
And are you there feeling the same as I
Whispering love songs to the lonely sky

And though I don't know where you are
I know you must be there
So for now I'll lay me down to sleep and dream

And maybe tomorrow...

I'll kiss the air that covers you
I'll watch the moonlight dance in your eyes
I'll hold you safely in my arms
Maybe tomorrow, you'll be mine

I said a prayer for you today
May troubles be far away
And I'll be here on bended knee
Until the day you say you'll marry me

And though I don't know who you are
I know you're beautiful
So for now I'll lay me down to sleep and dream

And maybe tomorrow

I'll kiss the air that covers you
I'll watch the moonlight dance in your eyes
I'll hold you safely in my arms
Maybe tomorrow, you'll be mine

Mine...

I'll be waiting patiently
Promise you will wait for me
No one else to hold on to
Until I'm holding you

I'll kiss the air that covers you
I'll watch the moonlight dance in your eyes
I'll hold you safely in my arms (I'll hold you safely)

Maybe tomorrow (Maybe tomorrow)

I'll love you more than life itself
I'll watch the moonlight dance in your eyes
I'll hold you safely in my arms (I'll hold you safely in my arms)

Maybe tomorrow