

November Blessing, Can I Keep You

These thoughtless nights have put me through so much pain Just the thought of being without you for days i never knew i could love someone so much i've lost track of hours since our lips have touched and now i realize how much you mean to me what i came up with is without you theres no meaning how can 5 days without you feel like months how can three years with you feel like seconds we'll never know until we follow our dreams and my dream is a future with you and me cause i believe that this is destiny and i can give you everything you need for you i'd give up everything you mean the world to me i would give up everyting (when i told you i loved you i meant every word so tell me now can i keep you?)
we'll never know until we follow our dreams
and my dream is a future with you and me
cause i believe that this is destiny
and i can give you everything you need
for you i'd give up everything
You mean the world to me