

Novice, The Last Time

This isn't fair you said that everything went wrong
Because of me, you don't see my heart..?
You said I stole you heart from you and I'm given it back right now
So when you're gone there's nothing left of you and me
I'm going crazy

This time I walk away, in time it will be okay
I'm gonna see this though
Somethings will never change
The things you say should be locked away
Never see the light of day

So don't hold your breath for me
Cause I'm not coming back
I'll never sing for you again
You've dug your hole too deep to ever
Crawl back out again
Your tongue will make your grave tonight
I'm going crazy
This time I walk away, in time it will be okay
I'm gonna see this through
Somethings will never chage the things you say should be locked away
I don't think I could take this
And this is the last time I am writing you
And this is the last time I am writing you
And this is the last time I am writing you
And this is the last time I am writing you