

Oceania, Light Years

in your orbit
I saw the sun explode
over the horizon
I saw shadows spread over swirling clouds
I touched your rings of ice

I can't let you go without a fight
I'm your satellite

pulled in close by your heavenly body
the ebb and flow of my tides cooled by your shade and warmed by your fiery core you made the flowers bloom