

October Project, Adam & Eve

Only ever really one story
A boy and a girl
And a dream of the world
An apple, a kiss, a moment of sky
A moment you choose
Without knowing why

Burning like a fever inside you
The heat of your skin
And the taste of your lips
A shadow, a storm, a darkening sky
The reason you live
The secret you hide

And God said the reason had hung from the tree
But I feel the reason hanging on me
I am free of my innocence
Falling too far
I am helpless to change
I am hopelessly lost
I am all that you are

I've fallen from all I know
To keep you here
I need you here
I wonder how far to go
Without you here

Only ever really one story
A boy and a girl
And the end of the world
A secret, a kiss, a hole in the sky
The reason you fall
The moment you fly

And God said the reason had hung from the tree
But I feel the reason hanging on me
I am free of my innocence
Falling too far
I am helpless to change
I am hopelessly lost
I am all that you are