

Of Montreal, Doing Nothing

Nothing, we're doing nothing sitting and wondering why nothing's happening Everyone was there in a wooden chair
doing nothing
Still doing nothing, drinking, smoking
nothing's happening
No one seems to care in their wooden chair
doing nothing

I go walking through the park underneath a moldy sky Thinking yes I think this place would be such a lonely place to die, such a lonely place to die

Nothing we're doing nothing
literally frozen stiff from nothing happening Something has to change cause it's no longer feeling strange to do nothing Ad nauseam nothing and feeling acutely every millisecond pass We can ignore that this is sad because we know that it all adds up to nothing

I go walking though the park underneath the moldy sky Thinking about all the different ways that would make lonely ways to die all the lonely ways to die