

Of Montreal, Sing You A Love You Song

Before the laughter and the cheer dissolves into his memory, taste of vodka on his lips, and thoughts

They walked to the garden in the park when it was empty after dark then spread out a blanket and

She rolled over and a kiss laid softly on his chin and said, "You know maybe there's a chance

He said that, "I love you please believe the only matter of concern is that your love will one day

She said, "How could you question when the root of my affection is so plain and obvious? It g
