

Okkervil River, For Real

Some nights I thirst for real blood, for real knives, for real cries. And then the flash of steel from real

Sometimes the blood from real cuts feels real nice when it's really mine. And if you want
I want to know this time if you're really finally mine. I need to know that you're not lying,