

On The Last Day, Leaving The Citadel

You seemed so strong, stood your ground. Is this enough to make you proud?

The seasons barely change. They move too fast for me. Back home the autumn leaves are falling s

There's nothing left (I've given all I have) Done what I can (I've leaned into the wind) It's all (it's all)F

You seemed so strong, stood your ground. Is this enough to make you proud? You seemed so stro

Winter turns to spring, but it still looks the same. The city is gray and there's still the constant rain. I

There's nothing left (I've given all I have) Done what I can (I've leaned into the wind) It's all (it's all)

I'm sorry. I'm trying. Are you proud?