

Once Nothing, My Sweet Medusa

I'm saturated with your venom.
I'm covered in your poison.
This was a ride bound for destruction,
My driver with sweet seduction.
Your mouth turned into a machine gun
And your tongue twisted like the serpents.
Fingers like razorblades caressed my face.
The skin of a snake against my chest.
I drank your lies like a cheap wine,
And I took you in like an orphan off the street.
How could I have been the one you're looking for
I turned around and saw the devil at my door.