

Once Tasted Life, service station south Wales service station next to some highway at 6 p.m.

unknown faces the smell of some fries songs on the radio winter rain for every person coming in th foreign places we go to to escape from memories we restrain for every person coming in there's someone else who's just about to leave this place some time ag