

One Man Army, All The Way

I'll leave at night while the motor's running we'll smoke a joint just before I'm going I'll say goodbye to all of you to everything I ever knew I'm in love but the end is early I never noticed it was coming and I knew that it was over when we started at each other I've been losing and I've been dreaming we've been fighting and I've been drinking I'm running tired but I'm running true I should walk while everything's cool but I have a hard time letting go here cause I know that it ain't easy to walk away from everyone who ran with me all the way but before I go I left something outta place I hope it blows up...blows up in their face yeah and everything will be fine
