

Opposition Of One, Let's Build This Bridge

Lets build this bridge and enter new grounds

Its not that far away

We can make it now

Havent we ever dreamed of places without sorrows, places filled with helping hands

Havent we ever wished that a man stands to his word, where people mean what they say and trust

Havent we ever wanted to be honest and sincere when the future is quite unsure as it is these days

We can make it now

Lets go and start tonight, I think the time is right, lets burn whats in our way, enter new grounds

We have to realize again: theres dignity, theres respect, theres honour for all of us, founded in a se

Lets build this bridge and enter new grounds

Its not that far away

We can make it now

All that we dreamed of can really come true

Not in a land so far away but on our streets at home

It starts with our actions which will cause reactions

Maybe not at once but surely soon some day

Lets build this bridge
