

Outlandish, Heads To The Sky

Keep ya head to the sky

[Isam]

Back in 1965 in motherlands street cafe
Where young men were sitting down
Drinking coffee till this brother came in
You could tell by the look at his face
That he had something that he wanted to share
A story told by a brother to another
Bout havin a lotta money and beer
See everybody who gathered around this special man that Sunday night
Left the caf with a dream about being the one to reach this paradise
Among these playas was this guy who came from the country side
In love with a beautiful city girl
But didn't have what her daddy required
And since life was too cold, land was too dry
He decided to pack his suitcase
And leave without ever never saying bye
Couldn't look at his mother
Cuz she didn't want him to leave her sweet motherland
But a man's gotta do what a man's gotta do
So he said "Mama, I'll be back again"
Then he crossed the sea in the words of God
Hoping to get on the right way
Get his part, meet his demands, pray
Fulfill his heart, taking a chance
Grow all alone in the whole new world

Keep ya head to the sky

Every man got a story to tell about how he made it into this world

Keep ya head to the sky

Every man got a story to tell about how he made it into this world

[Waqas]

A new beginning

As soon as he touched ground

He heard a sound saying his life was about to turn upside down

As fast as he could he got settled with some fellow country men

Who had already giving in for gambling, alcohol, and women

But they were all in the same boat

Left home with the same hope

Learned from each other's mistakes and then they coped

Mr. Dishwasher, factory worker

Compared to where he came from, this job right here was pure luxury

He was no fool though

Shit he used his mind as his tool

Working his ass off all day, at nighttime he went to school

Language is power as the years flew on by

He went back home to make the love of his life for his wife

Talking about good shit, now lets talk about something bad

Lets talk about this fucked up situation one night he had

Police pulled him over

Thought he was drunk when he was sober

Then they thought the car was stolen when the fact was it was his Rover

"Mr. Officer, why you be harassing my ass?"

He said, "I pulled you over because your black ass was going too fast"

Suddenly insecurity came upon his face just like a flash

Was this really the type of future he would like his kids to have?

Keep ya head to the sky

Every man got a story to tell about how he made it into this world

Keep ya head to the sky

Every man got a story to tell about how he made it into this world

[Isam]
See daddy came
Daddy saw
Daddy took
Daddy got what he gave
A new home and new fam
And a new working place is what he gained
Gave his kids what he didn't have as a child
"You go for the gold"
The opportunity to be whatever they may desire
"You get on a role"
Bilingual and beautiful
Could there be a sweeter pie
I think not
But I'll let you decide
In the future
Inshallah

Every man got a story to tell about how he made it into this world

Keep ya head to the sky
Every man got a story to tell about how he made it into this world
Keep ya head to the sky
Every man got a story to tell about how he made it into this world
Keep ya head to the sky
