

Overdream, Solace

All your wishes slowly fade to shadow
Like a flower on the winter meadow
Days just vanish like the sand in the wind
Have you ever wondered: why are we here?

Stop time now - listen to life
Its breath echoes inside your mind
Oceans, lands, the sun, the moon
A universe is there in you

Have you ever felt that Fate is hollow
Father's deadend, lonely steps to follow
World is nothing but a home of sorrow
Light is killing Mercy every morrow?

Let the Spirit gently touch you awake
Be your worries by a storm washed away
Song of silence on the path leads you home
No need to hide it is where you belong!