

Oxymoron, Scream And Shout

They like to say that fortune sides with the brave
You've done your best and have failed yet, so it can't be right
Now you have turned the tables, and no trouble's in view
You try to hold it tight but it's slipping through

[Chorus:]

You turn it inside out
You wanna scream and shout
But someday you will see
That nothing lasts for eternity

I'd say that life's a battle that is meant to do
But if you're proving worthy you'll see it through Each time the tide turns for you, you made it you believe
But yet the other moment you're down again
