Paperback Hero, Now

So you ask, say your prayers Last in line, don't you care Color-blind to what is fair Wasted time, no time to spare I want you now I can't fall down Last chance on the front line slowly fades Last chance for that last dance is today now Walk in stride, face your fears Pay your dues, that time is here Bold to dream, and make it real So damn close, so damn clear I want you now I can't fall down Last chance on the front line slowly fades Last chance for that last dance is today now I want you now I can't fall down So far from home I bare my soul