

Paris, Hey Sailor!

Honey, you look so cute in your little sailor suit Oh, you treat me oh so good when you're in my neighbourhood

And yesterday evening I heard you brag about that you have a girl in every port
You told your friends that just one girl isn't enough for you
You simply think that life is too short

Sailor, hey sailor!
I thought you knew
I'm just as true as you
Cause sailor, hey sailor!
I've got a man on every boat
Everyday I get a letter that a sailor wrote

Baby, don't be mad
It really isn't that bad
It's just that when you're not here
I like to go out and have a beer

And I just seem to have a thing for boys in sailor suits just like you seem to like girls in miniskirts
And if you really need to know, oh yes, I spend the night with them
Stop trying to make me think that you are hurt

From where did you get the idea that girls just sit at home and wait?
It's just an illusion, it's just in your dreams
