

Parkway Drive, Pandora

The day lights gone
The empty streets echo our past and the days that once were so beautiful
Before now
Before us
So save yourself
Cause all dreams are gone
And all hope has faded
And as the sunlight fails I watch this world slip away
And we smiled as we betrayed ourselves
And a clear sky is only a distant memory
Our worst intentions carried away on the evening breathe
Everything we lived for draws our final thought around our necks
Your faces lies still
I cant see your breath and its freezing my blood until the end
One more time one more line
What is this hell
Reminisce to the beginning of everything
But The irony alone would kill me
Ten thousand hearts set to silence for the choice of one
End it all with the touch of a switch and I can see our lives burn before my eyes
Cause all dreams are gone
And all hope has faded
And as sunlight fails I watch this world slip away
Your face lies still
I cant see your breath and its freezing my blood until the end
Ten thousand hearts se to silence for the choice of one
End it all with the touch of a switch and I can see our lives burn
I can see our lives
I can see our lives burn
Your face lies still
I cant see your breath and its freezing my blood until the end
As we just let it slip away
