

Pat Benatar, Only You

I lost faith in myself, in everyone and everything around me
I thought I'd disappear, maybe you'd be better off without me
You showed me I was wrong, everybody needs someone
And love is not about perfection
You made no promises
Life is hard enough you said, without you
Only You, Only You
You're all that matters
Only You, Only You, Only You
Only You give me strength
When my world is shattered
Only You, Only You, Only You
I've walked this road some many times before
You'd think I'd know the way
But like the fool that I am, it always ends the same
You said that everyone deserves a little happiness
No one should have to be alone
Me, I'd be satisfied with just a little tenderness,
With you
Only You, Only You
You're all that matters
Only You, Only You, Only You
Only You break the chain
When my world is shattered
Only You, Only You, Only You
Only You, Only You
You're all that matters
Only You, Only You, Only You
Only You give me strength
When my world is shattered
Only You, Only You, Only You