

Pato Banton, Too Many Homeless

Now there's a whole lotta things
going down around town
I don't have the time to break it down.
Who's got ears to hear will hear
and who's got eyes to see will see mister money makes the world go round.
I'm living in a great big swimming pool
where the rich man swim
and the poor men drown.
And every time I see my brother
lying in the gutter
it turns all my emotions upside down.
It really drives me crazy
to see so many homeless people.

Too many homeless, too many homeless.
Too many homeless people.

It cuts me like a knife to see a man and his wife
and their kids sleeping on the streets at night.
It's hard to understand why in this world
with so much land
people ain't given a better choice.
What ever happened to civilization
people need help it's a crying shame.
Right now I'm on my knees
begging all you leaders please
can't you see it's time to rearrange.
It really drives me crazy
to see so many homeless people.
