

Patsy Cline, Shoes

Everything you told me, I believed
You said that I was all, that you'd ever need
That I made life worth living, for you
And no one else could ever fill my shoes

But them shoes don't fit me anymore
They lost their shape
When I lost all that I care for
And someone else will fill
Them shoes that I once wore
'Cause them shoes don't fit me anymore

--- Instrumental ---

When a shoe is new it fits, oh, so tight
When our love was new everything was right
When a shoe is old, you throw it away
Our love was like a shoe you wore yesterday

But them shoes don't fit me anymore
They lost their shape
When I lost all that I care for
And someone else will fill
Them shoes that I once wore
'Cause them shoes don't fit me anymore...
