

Paul Harrington & Charlie McGettigan, Rock'N'Roll

I remember '62
I was 16 and so were you and we lived next door on the avenue
Jerry Lee was big and Elvis too
Blue jeans and blue suede shoes
And we never knew
What life held in store
We just wanted to Rock 'n' Roll forever more
CHORUS:

We were the rock 'n' roll kids
Rock 'n' roll was all we did
And listening to those songs on the radio
I was yours and you were mine
That was once upon a time
Now we never seem to rock 'n' roll anymore
Now Jonny's in love with the girl next door
And Mary's down at the record store
They don't wanna be around us no more
Golden oldies but we hardly speak
Too busy running to a different beat
Hard to understand we were once like that How I wish we could find those Rock 'n' Roll days again..

CHORUS
I was yours and you were mine
That was once upon a time
Now we never seem to Rock 'n' Roll
We just never seem to Rock 'n' Roll anymore
