

Paul King, Some risks

What you never had, what you never get chances you let pass, you may never miss let's talk regrets, we've all had a few experience can sometimes confuse Because some risks are worth taking it's the truth
so let's slice ourselves a portion, me and you some risks are worth taking
it's the truth
so let's slice ourselves a portion of the sweetest groove Sister you're far too young for the chapel door high high heels and party frocks are hardly worn it might not seem funky and it might not satisfy but there's no easy street to love or good times Capuccino palor to my razor repartee I'm no Al Capone baby you'll find no scars on me well these days sex and sweat sure ain't too safe a bet but don't you worry 'cause there's someone somewhere for you who's heaven sent
